

A message from Kathy Smith

I hope you are enjoying the beautiful weather we have been having today and expect to see this weekend. We have several exciting events coming up which I am excited to invite you to attend. The first will be tomorrow morning at 9:00 a.m. at the Sully Government Center. This will be our Dulles Suburban Center Study Workshop. While this is specifically a meeting for study members to discuss among themselves, the public is invited to attend as observers as the members discuss important land use plans for our region.

Second, I invite you to attend the McAtee's Tavern Historical Marker unveiling next Saturday, June 10 at 10:00 a.m. at the Burger Shack on Rt. 50. This historic site is also known as the Mitchell-Weeks House. Chairman Sharon Bulova and I will both be there as we celebrate this important piece of Fairfax County history.

Finally, please save the date for our annual Centreville Day celebration to be held this October 21 at Historic Centreville Park.

Sincerely,

Kathy

The Case for Native Plants

A Talk by Laura Beaty and Donna Murphy

Thursday, June 15, 2017

6:00 to 8:00 p.m.

Sully Governmental Center

4900 Stonecroft Boulevard
Chantilly, VA 20151

Because of the early start time, guests are welcome to come in during the presentation, which will be repeated if necessary.

Join Laura Beaty and Donna Murphy, members of the Potowmack Chapter of the Virginia Native Plant Society (VNPS), for a program that will benefit gardeners and homeowners who are interested in using a portion of their property to support biodiversity. The program covers the inter-dependent relationships between plants and animals that ensure their survival into the future – on which we depend.

Laura serves as the VNPS, Potowmack Chapter propagation chair at the native plant beds at Green Spring Gardens. She is a popular speaker about native plants to Master Gardener candidates at Green Spring Gardens and native plant/pollinator programs for area garden clubs and other organizations. She is currently in the process of converting her grassy front yard into a “modified meadow” that includes perennials, grasses, shrubs and trees—all native; then will move to the backyard.

Donna serves as VNPS, Potowmack Chapter programs chair. She is also is a Master Naturalist, Fairfax Chapter. Donna began to create a woodlot in her treeless backyard over 30 years ago and now has a small, mature-looking woods flanked by meadow habitat and continually receding lawn turf.

Two Steps to Take if You've Been Scammed

Scammers are at it 24/7. They impersonate charities over the phone, send threatening letters claiming to be the IRS and they knock on your door pedaling yard and home repair services that they have no intention of providing.

If you have been stung by a scammer take these steps:

1. Report ALL scams that occur in Fairfax County to the Fairfax County Police Department through their non-emergency number at 703-691-2131. Financial scams including check and credit card theft and fraud can also be reported through the Fairfax County Police Department's financial crimes information and reporting system at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/police/financialcrimes.

2. You may also want to report scams to the Federal Trade Commission at www.ftccomplaintassistant.gov. The FTC cannot resolve individual complaints, but can provide information about what steps to take. Consumer complaints help the agency detect patterns of fraud and abuse. If the complaint involves identify theft, the webpage will walk you through a recovery plan.

Accessory Storage Structures – Did you know that the Zoning Ordinance regulates the location of all storage structures and that a Building Permit may be required to assure that it is located within required setbacks and meets required height restrictions? If you feel that a storage structure has been constructed too close to your property line or it exceeds 8.5' in height, or if it has been constructed without the appropriate building permits, you may contact DCC to file a complaint.

Accessory Storage Structures

Do you know about Fairfax County's Zoning Regulations for Accessory Storage Structures?

Specific regulations will differ based on type of structure and lot, but these are rules to consider.

- ◆ Article 10-104 of the Zoning Ordinance regulates the types, sizes and location of accessory storage structures.
- ◆ An accessory storage structure must be located on a lot with a principal structure or use.
- ◆ In the R-2 through R-20 districts an accessory storage structure shall not exceed 200 square feet in gross floor area. (L x W)
- ◆ An accessory storage structure shall not be located in any minimum required front yard on any lot, and more specifically may not be anywhere in the front yard on a lot containing 36,000 square feet or less.
- ◆ Information on minimum yard requirements can be found in the Zoning Ordinance. To view these requirements, refer to the zoning district article and section in which the property is located.
- ◆ The use of cargo containers on residential property is not permitted as a permanent accessory storage structure.

This Fairfax County, VA Publication (published September 2016) summarizes a few regulations. See relevant codes for specific requirements.

- ◆ Shed placement in the side or rear yard is dependent on its height:
 - ◆ An accessory storage structure, which does not exceed eight and one-half (8 1/2) feet in height can be located in any part of a side or rear yard.
 - ◆ On an interior lot, an accessory storage structure which exceeds eight and one-half (8 1/2) feet in height shall not be located closer than a distance equal to its height to the rear lot line and located closer than a distance equal to the minimum required side yard to the side lot line.
 - ◆ On a corner lot, an accessory storage structure which exceeds eight and one-half (8 1/2) feet in height shall not be located closer than a distance equal to its minimum required side yard to the rear lot line.
- ◆ No more than 30% of the minimum rear yard can be covered to include paving, patios, and building. accessory storage structures.
- ◆ The height of an accessory storage structure shall be measured from the highest point of the structure to the lowest point of finished ground level adjacent to the structure.
